

Location: American University

Job Title: Resident Librarian (Two Positions)

Responsibilities: American University Library invites early career librarians to apply for its Resident Librarian Program. The program is designed to provide those from traditionally underrepresented groups an opportunity to jump start their career in academic librarianship and a chance to explore emerging areas of interest. The Resident Librarian will be based in the Research, Teaching, and Learning (RTL) unit of the library and will provide instruction, research support, and outreach for undergraduate students who are learning the fundamentals of the research process. The Resident Librarian will have the opportunity to participate in meaningful projects of strategic importance and have networking and mentoring opportunities, such that they will be able to demonstrate skills at a professional level, develop a professional network, and be prepared for future career opportunities in academic librarianship. The Resident Librarian is expected to stay up to date on emerging trends in academic librarianship and to thoughtfully design and deliver reference and instruction sessions, in addition to contributing to collection development and collection assessment. The Resident Librarian may prepare online tutorials and other relevant reference tools in support of the university community. Over the course of the academic year, some evening and weekend hours may be required.

Requirements: American Library Association (ALA) accredited master's degree awarded between December 2021 to August 2023; Demonstrated potential to develop expertise as a reference and instruction librarian (through coursework, pre-professional experience, etc.); Ability to communicate clearly and effectively; Ability to work in a collaborative environment as well as independently; Commitment to equity, diversity, and inclusion; Demonstrated understanding of the educational mission of a research university. Preferred Experiences-Public service experience; Experience in a research-oriented environment

Salary Range:$64,000 to $69,000 / Year
