Location: Drexel University Libraries
Job Title: Senior Manager, Academic Services

Responsibilities:
- Develop, monitor, and implement guides, tools, and recommendations that support self-directed learning, curriculum and multiple literacies
- Guide the development of resources that coach and guide students, faculty and staff to find, access, evaluate and use information
- Coordinate collection selection decisions with subject librarians, acquisitions and resource sharing teams
- Supervise and mentor a team of subject librarians
- Advance campus awareness of Open Access and current scholarly communication trends
- Build partnerships, anticipate trends, and utilize data to ensure Libraries' contributions are recognized
- Ensure effective pedagogical practices are modeled by building a community of continued learning and collaboration among team members
- Assess impact of services on student academic success, core competencies and post-graduate success
- Contribute to strengthening the Libraries' culture of diversity, equity, inclusiveness and belonging

Requirements:
- Master's degree in library or information science or related fields
- Five years related professional experience in an academic or library setting
- Experience working as a subject librarian or collaborating with subject librarians
- Demonstrated understanding of current issues and opportunities in metaliteracy applications and skills development, life-long learning, and pedagogy with experience in providing library reference or instruction
- Demonstrated experience with collection selection and development with broad knowledge of information resources
- Familiarity with the scholarly communications landscape and information-seeking behaviors, including influences of the publishing industry
- Passionate, engaged and self-motivated, willing to take on new challenges, able to solve problems with minimal supervision and eager to learn new knowledge and skills
- Demonstrated managerial experience with evidence of entrepreneurial and project management skills
- Excellent communication and collaboration skills
- Demonstrated commitment to manage and improve service quality
- Experience in supervision and mentorship
- Demonstrated ability to utilize and adapt technologies and applications
- Demonstrated commitment to fostering a diverse, equitable, inclusive and welcoming work environment in both physical and cyber space.

Salary Range: $75,200 - $94,140

Closing Date: 2/16/24