Location: Stevenson University
Job Title: Director, Library Services

Responsibilities: Reporting directly to the Provost, the Director of Library Services ensures the provision of library services and resources to the Stevenson community in support of student learning, academic programs, and faculty teaching and research. The Director is responsible for all Library personnel, programs, fiscal resources, and initiatives, including developing, implementing, and evaluating Library policies and procedures, and managing, assessing, and reporting on Library operations and initiatives. As a member of the Provost's leadership team, the Director provides well-informed, engaged, and collaborative leadership at the library and university levels. The Director develops and maintains positive professional relationships with students, faculty, staff, and the Stevenson community. The Director provides strong leadership consistent with the academic goals and mission of the institution and works to foster a student-centered and excellent customer-service-oriented approach to operations. This position is campus-based and housed in the University's new Zaffere Library opening in January 2024.

Requirements:
Master's Degree in Library Science or Library and Information Science from a graduate program accredited by the American Library Association plus five years of experience in an academic library setting including at least two years of supervisory experience as a library director or equivalent combination of education and experience. Experience in academic libraries preferred.
